

OECD ECONOMIC SURVEYS

MALAYSIA

ISSN 0376-6438, e-ISSN 1609-7513

July 2026

Consulta en línea desde Intranet

Foreword	3
Basic statistics of Malaysia, 2025	7
Executive summary	8
1 Macroeconomic resilience and policies	17
1.1. Growth held up in the face of shocks but has begun to slow	18
1.2. Inflation came down from its 2022 peak	23
1.3. Growth is projected to remain solid	24
1.4. The monetary stance is broadly neutral and the exchange rate has appreciated	26
1.5. Financial sector risks seem to be contained	28
1.6. The need to press ahead with fiscal consolidation	30
1.7. Strengthening long-term growth prospects through reforms	41
References	43
2 Coping with Climate Change	45
2.1. Malaysia is exposed to significant climate-related hazards	46
2.2. Adapting to climate change	48
2.3. Continuing mitigation efforts	56
References	65
3 Boosting productivity through openness, smarter regulation and digitalisation	69
3.1. Productivity growth has fallen short of targets	70
3.2. Lifting remaining regulatory barriers at the border	72
3.3. Addressing domestic hurdles	75
3.4. Ensuring a more level playing field	77
3.5. Stepping up the digitalisation of government and healthcare	80
3.6. Streamlining public governance and combating corruption and money laundering	82
References	87
4 Improving skills, education and training	89
4.1. Building on progress in education reform to improve living standards	90
4.2. Early childhood education: the groundwork for better learning outcomes	95
4.3. Primary and secondary schools	103
4.4. Technical and vocational education and training and lifelong learning	117
4.5. Improving higher education in Malaysia	121
References	128